

MEXICANS CLAIM BANDITS ROBBED U. S. SAILORS

Give Official Account of Holdup and Deaths

MEXICO CITY, July 23.—(By The Associated Press.)—Official accounts of the robbing of American sailors from the United States Steamship Company, July 6, and of deaths of Americans were given today by General Juan Barragan, chief of the presidential staff, in the form of governmental dispatches. One said that the sailors were taken to river Tamesi into rebel territory.

General Ricardo Gonzales, chief of the Tampico garrison, in a dispatch reporting on the murder of John W. Correll, near Tampico June 16, stated the murder was committed by Tamesi bandits. He said he had ordered a pursuit of the outlaws and that four had been killed.

Other official dispatches on deaths of Americans placed the responsibility in some cases upon the men killed.

Will Give Out Documents

General Barragan announced that tomorrow there would be made public various documents belonging to the archives of the bandit Villa recovered in Juarez, and including a letter addressed to Villa by Col. Charles F. Hunt, offering Villa a visit by Senator Fall and other persons in an effort to aid Villa's campaign.

Among the dispatches furnished by General Barragan to The Associated Press was one from General Gonzales regarding the Cheyenne case in which the chief of the Tampico garrison says:

"This was due to their (the American sailors) impudence for without advising the Mexican military headquarters where they could have passed safely on the river Tamesi, they ventured beyond the last outpost into rebel territory and were robbed of one watch, a little money and their shoes."

Gen. Gonzales reports he has received the attention of the American consul to this fact and also that he has given orders that nobody shall pass the last Mexican outposts in the future.

Explains Hughes Killing

Killing of Hiram Hughes, an American near Tampico July 9 occurred, according to the Gonzales dispatches after Hughes while intoxicated, had insulted passersby and had been arrested. Asked if he carried arms Hughes is alleged to have replied in the negative, but a bandit found a pistol in his pocket. Hughes is then declared to have shot the bandit in the hand and was himself mortally wounded in the ensuing struggle.

The death of Peter Catron (on or about July 7) is blamed by General Gonzales on Catron's neighbors who robbed him of cattle. The names of the slayers are known and Gonzales has promised their early capture.

Fall Says "They are Liars"

Washington, July 23.—"They are liars of course, as usual," said Senator Fall of New Mexico tonight when shown Mexico City dispatches announcing that a letter purporting to offer overtures to Francisco Villa thru the secretary of war had been made public tomorrow in the Mexican capital.

SENATE PASSES AGRICULTURAL BILL

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The senate today passed the $34,000,000 agricultural appropriation bill which President Wilson recently vetoed because of the rider for repeal of the daylight saving law. No effort to restore the rider was made.

Senators made no criticism of the president's veto.

The only reference to the daylight saving question was an announcement by Chairman Gronna of the agriculture committee of the veto and the reiterated refusal of the house to override it.

The bill will be returned to the house tomorrow with one minor committee amendment approved today by the senate, providing relief for western drought sufferers by suspending their homesteaders residence requirements. The measure's enactment before adjournment tomorrow is believed assured. Senate discussion of the bill was brief.

Naval Radio Spark May Have Ignited "Blimp"

CHICAGO, July 23.—As a result of the newest theory, that naval radio currents produced the spark that ignited the Goodyear dirigible which plunged in flames thru the roof of a bank building resulting in death of 13, one of whom died today, and injury to 27 other, Monday, naval communication officers will aid the authorities in fixing responsibility for the disaster. It was ascertained today that technical experts had suggested the theory, because the big ship sailed over or near the Transportation building from the roof of which are projected the antennae of the naval radio station.

Say Theory Possible

Employees of the radio station said the theory was possible and that at the time of the accident the radio sets were in action. It was said gas bag pilots invariably avoid approaching radio stations.

Pilot John Bottner of the dirigible, said he had not been aware of the location of the naval radio station.

H. M. Byllesby, head of a large engineering corporation and foreman of the coroner's jury of technical men, said experts already had suggested the radio theory to him.

Col. J. C. Morrow, chief air officer of the central department of the army, the principal witness at today's session of the inquest, which was adjourned until Friday, was a passenger in the dirigible on a trip preceding the fatal one. At that time he said the ship was in safe condition.

The pilot he considered competent. He thought the possibility of sparks from the exhaust igniting the gas bag very remote. However, he urged federal examination and licensing of commercial pilots.

G. M. Stadelman, vice-president of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company and three other officials arrived today from Akron, Ohio. They announced they were anxious to disclose fully all facts concerning the accident and said that Pilot Bottner and W. C. Young, chief of the company's aeronautical forces, who directed the assembling of the dirigible here, would testify at the inquest. The two men had refused to testify yesterday on advice of attorneys.

Publicly Express Regret

In a statement issued by Mr. Stadelman tonight, he said the officials wished to "publicly express their regret for the tragic consequences of the accident."

While non-determination of the cause could "mitigate its calamitous character," he said they asked, in justice to their men, a suspension of judgment by the public as to their responsibility.

The company is conducting its own investigation, the statement said.

Marces Callopy, foreign exchange teller of the Illinois Trust & Savings bank, thru whose roof the blazing blimp crashed, died today, the thirteenth fatality. Nine other employees of the bank were killed, five of them girls.

INTERURBAN SUFFER FINANCIAL HARDSHIPS

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Interurban electric railways were placed to the federal electric railways commission today as suffering from the same financial hardships said to be afflicting the city lines.

"There isn't an interurban road in any part of the country that is paying dividends either on its preferred or common stock," declared Charles L. Henry, of Indianapolis, a pioneer in interurban development.

Mr. Henry suggested that the roads should be relieved of all charges except those sustained in the actual carrying of passengers. Passenger trucks be placed under regulation and that the federal government should adopt fair competitive methods. Regarding the last suggestion, Mr. Henry said the railroad administration had kept suburban rates low upon steam lines thereby precluding an increase by the electric lines and had indicated the electric lines by diverting express business.

WILL PUT PRISONERS TO WORK TODAY

Leavenworth, Kans., July 23.—With the arrival at the United States disciplinary barracks at Leavenworth tomorrow of 1,300 additional troops the 2,500 military prisoners who have been in their cells under guard since Tuesday when they refused to leave their cells, will be put to work, according to Col. Sedgwick Rice, commandant of the prison. The troops now are enroute from Fort Riley, Camp Dodge and Camp Grant.

TAFT SUGGESTS PLAN FOR LEAGUE INTERPRETATIONS

Hopes to Unite Factions on Middle Ground to Ratify

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(By The Associated Press.)—A plan for "interpretations" in senate acceptance of the league of nations has been suggested by Former President Taft in the hope of uniting on a middle ground enough Democratic and Republican senators to defeat any radical amendment of the covenant and in the end obtain its ratification.

The suggestion has been received with earnest consideration by Republicans who favor the league idea and who are at work on a definite program of interpretative reservations which they declare they have reason to believe will be accepted by the administration. The administration leaders however still insist they will let the votes when the time comes to ratify the covenant as it is.

Think Wilson Will Accept

So confident are the league Republicans of the success of their plan that some of them believe President Wilson will publicly accept it to smooth the way to acceptance of the league. Some Republican senators who have seen the president have come away from the white house with the impression that Mr. Wilson, while not encouraging reservations, might not be adverse to such interpretations as would leave the league fabric unimpaired. They say, however, that this impression is not based on any direct statement by the president.

Mr. Taft's suggestion was embodied in two letters to Will Hays the Republican national chairman, copies of which reached some Republican senators today. They touched upon many features of the treaty controversy and emphasized the former president's belief that only by acceptance of some reservations could the treaty be ratified.

Six specific interpretation proposals are outlined which Mr. Taft says he is convinced will meet the objections of a large group of Republicans who favor a league. He counts forty five Democratic senators as supporting the president in the treaty fight and says that should three Republicans be committed to vote against material amendments no such proposals could receive a senate majority.

Writes Some Republicans

Mr. Taft has written some of the Republican senators who, under the leadership of Senators McCumber, North Dakota and McNary, Oregon have been interested in formulating a middle course for solution of the senate situation. It is understood that Senators Kellogg, Minnesota, Colt, Rhode Island and Spencer, Missouri, also have been consulted in the interests of such a plan.

Program of interpretations to be included in senate ratification of the peace treaty in order to insure support of the Republicans favorable to a league idea is suggested in letters from former President Taft to Will H. Hays, Republican national chairman, copies of which are in the hands of the Republican senators.

The letters suggest interpretations covering the right of withdrawal, limiting the representation of dominions and colonies, asserting the prerogative of congress to declare war under article ten, confirming national control over domestic issues, defining the Monroe Doctrine and reserving the right to terminate obligations under article ten at the end of ten years.

Would Not Weaken Pact

Mr. Taft says these interpretations would not weaken the league covenant but would, he believed, assure ratification. He suggested that he should not appear publicly at this time as their sponsor because it might bias some Republicans against them.

The letters both dated Pointe-A-Ple, Quebec, and dated July 20, follow, in part:

"Speaking generally, I wish to emphasize my conviction that the senate might well ratify the present treaty without any reservations or interpretations. I am confident that the actual operation of the treaty after ratification would bring about exactly the same result as that which would be attained by the acceptance of these interpretations and reservations, but it seems to me to be the part of statesmen to recognize the exigencies, personal, partisan and political, of a situation in seeking to achieve real progress and reform.

Created by Wilson's Mistakes

"The situation which confronts us now in reference to the ratification of the league of nations is a creation of mistakes of policy committed by Mr. Wilson. The partisan character of his administration during the war together with his appeal to his countrymen to elect a Democratic congress in November 1918, created conditions of personal antagonism toward him among Republican leaders which was shared by a majority of the American people. Notwithstanding this, Mr. Wilson persisted in continuing the same partisan exclusion of Republicans in

Reports Mooney Did Not Receive Full Justice

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Charges of labor leaders that Thomas J. Mooney was unjustly convicted for participation in the bomb outrage in San Francisco three years ago were supported in a report of John B. Densmore, special agent of the department of labor, submitted to the house today in response to a resolution demanding more information on the case.

Mr. Densmore, now director of the federal employment service, conducted a secret investigation of the case at the request of Secretary Wilson. With the aid of immigration inspectors, he gathered his evidence, working without the knowledge of San Francisco authorities. Most of it was obtained by use of a dictaphone, placed in the office of District Attorney Fickert, prosecutor of the case.

From this evidence, Mr. Densmore drew the conclusion that Mooney did not receive full justice in his trial and that he was the victim of corporate interests in San Francisco who desired to discredit the labor unions and maintain the "open shop."

The prosecution was conducted without a real investigation of the crime, Mr. Densmore declared and with deliberate intent to "frame" the labor leader.

The "plain truth," Mr. Densmore said, "that there is nothing about the case to produce a feeling of confidence in the dignity and majesty of the law have been upheld. There is nowhere any thing resembling consistency, the effect being a patchwork of incongruous makeshift and often of desperate expediency."

Methods employed by District Attorney Fickert in prosecuting Mooney were attacked by Mr. Densmore, who declared there were "excellent grounds for believing" that the prosecutor was influenced by local corporate interests bitterly opposed to Union labor. After Frank C. Oxman, a principal witness has been proven a perjurer, Mr. Densmore said Fickert agreed to a new trial and later opposed it.

"Since the Oxman exposure," Mr. Densmore said, "the district attorney's case has melted steadily away until there is little left but an unsavory record of manipulation and perjury, further revelations having impeached the credibility of practically all the principal witnesses for the prosecution and of any additional confirmation was needed of the inherent weakness of the case, the acquittal of Mrs. Mooney on July 27, 1917, and of Israel Weinburg, in the following October, would seem to supply it."

PUBLISH GERMANY'S FINANCIAL PROGRAM

BERLIN, July 23.—(By The Associated Press.)—Germany's financial program calling for the raising of 25,000,000,000 marks annually, agreed upon by Mathis Erzberger, minister of finance and a group of experts, was published today by the North German Gazette. The conference was said to be in complete agreement on the financial reforms.

Eight billion marks will be obtained by war taxes, according to the Gazette. The remaining 17,000,000,000 must be raised from new sources. The first of these will be a heavy advance in the tax on business turnovers. The second new source of income is called the imperial sacrifice to needs. The third new source of taxes will be on the necessities of life.

An important part of the program will be the imperial income tax which will be a tax on profits from invested capital. These profits will be taxed from 25 to 30 per cent, according to a newly evolved system that is intended to eliminate inequalities and protect small capitalists from being overburdened.

CARDINAL GIBBONS 85 YEARS OF AGE

BALTIMORE, Md., July 23.—Cardinal Gibbons is 85 years old today. As has been his custom for many years, he spent the day at the estate of Mrs. T. Herbert Shriver, near Union Mills, Carroll county.

March Admits Troops Suffered Brutalities

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Admission that American soldiers held in prisons and camps in and near Paris suffered brutalities for which several minor officers were convicted in court martial proceedings was obtained from General March, chief of staff today by a special house war investigating committee.

The prisoners, according to records, were held because of absence without leave late last year from the military units and a cablegram from General Pershing recently declared "some of the most brutal and inhuman characters in the American Expeditionary Force."

General Pershing's cablegram, sent in response to an inquiry of the war department, disclosed the conviction against four officers, at Prison Farm No. 2 and its adjoining stockade. Two of the officers it is said were imprisoned after being found guilty by court martial. Conviction of four other officers was disclosed by reports of Brigadier General Edward A. Kreiger, acting judge advocate general.

Lieutenant Frank H. Smith, the well known "Hard Boiled" officer in charge of Farm No. 2 it was disclosed is serving an eighteen month sentence at Governor's Island, because of his maltreatment of prisoners. Smith, the chief of staff explained, came from Kentucky and was sent to Europe after he had tried to get a commission in the Philippine scouts. Smith's original sentence of three years was reduced by reviewing authorities.

Besides Smith, the records show the conviction of the following:

Sergeant Clarence E. Barl, six months imprisonment, dishonorable discharge.

Sergeant Fred W. Wolfmaier, Company K, 158th Infantry, one year imprisonment, dishonorable discharge.

Sergeant Savo Ragnovich, Company K, 158th Infantry, six months imprisonment, dishonorable discharge.

Sergeant Joseph Bush, replacement battalion, six months imprisonment.

Sergeant Joseph Smith, replacement battalion, acquitted.

Lieutenant Charles Joseph Mason, 158th Infantry, found not guilty at one trial, but later sentenced to dishonorable discharge, which sentence later was set aside.

REMOVE JOSS FROM NEW YORK CHINATOWN

NEW YORK, July 23.—The transforming of Chinatown that has been in progress for a decade has finally thrust its Americanizing influences into the Chinese temple in Mott street, with the result that the Joss and the lesser idols have been relegated to a dusty closet.

For years the Joss was one of the attractions of Chinatown and every well conducted sight-seeing party was led before the idol that occupied a prominent position in the council hall of the temple. A Christian clergyman, the Rev. Lee To, head of the Chinese association, which now holds sway in the temple, is responsible for the removal of the idols, which is significant of the present day attitude of the Chinese toward the old traditions.

MAY FORM REGIMENTS OF MARRIED MEN

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Special regiments, composed largely, if not entirely of married men, probably will result from the war department policy announced today regarding the disposition of regulars who are returning to this country with French wives. Orders have been sent to commanding officers of debarkation ports to transfer such men and their wives to either Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont or Fort Meyer, Virginia, when they belong to the cavalry and to Madison Barracks, New York in the case of infantry men.

Tentatively selected as the units which are to become the F. F. V. (Father of Families Veterans) of the military establishments are the third cavalry at Fort Meyer and Ethan Allen, the sixth cavalry at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia and an infantry regiment, yet to be named at the New York post. The regimental commander in each instance has been instructed to provide facilities which will enable the soldier to take care of his new responsibilities.

Official estimates are that 20,000 American soldiers married foreign brides.

UPHOLDS DRY ACT

HOUSE G.O.P. AGREE ON MONTH'S RECESS

Vote Down Proposal to Enlarge Steering Committee

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Enlargement of the Republican executive steering committee was voted down tonight at a party conference. Proposals to increase the committee from five to seven and from five to nine members each were disapproved by margins of ten votes.

Representative Johnson, South Dakota, proposed the addition of four committeemen but was defeated 34 to 74. On an amendment offered by Representative Smith, Illinois, to add two members, no record vote was taken but it was defeated by approximately twenty votes.

A recess of a month beginning in August was practically agreed on by the conference. Inquiries now under way by standing and special house committees will continue during the recess. In addition to these inquiries the Republican leaders expect to order an investigation by the foreign affairs committee into the Mexican situation and into the operations and expenses of shipping board and emergency fleet corporation.

Tonight's conference, according to participants, was a harmonious one except for some question of the attitude of members of the steering committee in permitting the house to consider daylight saving and then voting against its incorporation in the remodeled agriculture bill. Republican Leaders Mondell and others defended the action, it was said, asserting that the committee did not wish to enforce individual opinions on a question that should be decided by the house.

HARVESTING SHOWS ONLY FAIR YIELDS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 23.—Harvesting of Illinois grain crops which is in full swing shows only fair yields of spring wheat and oats, but winter wheat is yielding good returns in northern counties, according to the crop bulletin of the federal weather bureau for the week ending July 22, made public today. Seasonable temperatures, excessive sunshine with little or no rain is the substance of the weather report.

"Corn made excellent progress in the north, very good in central and fair to average in the south," says the bulletin. It is tassel and mostly laid by. Corn now is in its critical period and good rains will be necessary in many sections soon.

"The conditions of pastures and meadows varies, but rain is needed."

"Peaches are being marketed in the extreme south."

TROOPS PATROL STREETS OF CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Streets were patrolled again tonight by a force of cavalry, infantry and marines numbering more than 2,000 men, no precaution being overlooked by the authorities against a renewed outbreak of the race riots which have occurred on four successive nights.

Major General Haan in command of the military forces expressed confidence tonight there would be no further serious disorders.

WALK OUT TIES UP GRANITE CITY PLANT

GRANITE CITY, Ill., July 23.—Six hundred and fifty employees of the Corn Products Refining Co. walked out today, tying up operation of the company's plant here. No demands have been presented by the strikers according to company officials, but it is said the men are seeking recognition of the union.

Plants of the company at Pekin and Argo, Ill., have been affected for several weeks because of the strikes.

CLERKS GO ON STRIKE

Chicago, July 23.—Clerks of the United Cigar Stores began locking up the company's stores tonight and going on strike, or as they termed it, "submitting to a lockout." United Cigar Stores companies operate about 150 stores in the city. Posters headed "lockout" were pasted on doors and windows. The posters announced that the workers were seeking a forty eight hour week. No mention of wages was made.

RUSS TROOPS MUTINY; JOIN BOLSHIEVIKI

LONDON, July 23.—The government has received a dispatch from Major General William E. Ironside, commander-in-chief on the Archangel front, stating that the Russian troops have mutinied and joined the Bolsheviks, handing over the town of Omega and the Olego front to the enemy. The latter also tried to take the railroad front but were repulsed.

U. S. To Sign Treaties With Turks-Bulgars

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The United States will sign the treaties with Bulgaria and Turkey, it was announced today at the state department.

Although the United States never has been actually at war with Bulgaria and Turkey, it will sign the treaties to show its concurrence in the terms imposed upon those allies of Germany and Austria.

Like those with the Teutons, powers the treaties change boundary lines and create new nations, some of which particularly Armenia will ask that the United States act as mandatory for them under the league of nations covenant.

COAL STRIKE SHOWS NO SIGNS OF ENDING

LONDON, July 23.—(By The Associated Press.)—The fourth day of the great coal miners strike brought no signs of settlement. Almost 250,000 men laid down their tools. Ten thousand went out today in Nottingham and Derby, while 10,000 men in Monmouth and 7,500 Lancashire workers went back to save the mines from destruction and coupling with their return a strong protest. Premier Lloyd George and members of the cabinet conferred with the mine owners today.

The triple alliance of labor, which is composed of the railway men, transportation workers and miners met in London and voted 217 to 11 against constituting a federation in Russian campaigns force in trade union disputes. There is no doubt that Lloyd George's government has met the most serious situation in domestic affairs that it has yet to deal with, one which may bring to focus all the labor discontent which has been accumulating since the armistice.

WILSON DENIES PUBLISHED REPORTS

WASHINGTON, July 23.—President Wilson today denied published reports he had told senators he was responsible for the Shantung settlement in the treaty with Germany.

An official statement issued at the white house said the president had exerted all the influence he was at liberty to exercise in the circumstances, to obtain a modification of the Shantung provision.

The statement follows: "The president authorizes the announcement that the statement carried in several of the papers this morning that he originated or formulated the provisions with regard to Shantung in the treaty of peace with Germany is altogether false. He exerted all the influence he was at liberty to exercise in the circumstances to obtain a modification of them and believed that the ultimate action of Japan with regard to Shantung will put the whole matter in its true light."

DISAPPROVES OF TERMS OF TREATY

GENEVA, July 23.—(By The Associated Press.)—Dr. Carl Renner, head of the Austrian peace delegation in passing thru Zurich today on his way to Vienna told the correspondent of the Swiss Telegraph Agency that he totally disapproved of the peace terms presented to him at St. Germain, especially the clauses concerning amputation of territory from Austria and the financial conditions which he said Austria would be unable to fill, even with the best intentions to do so. Dr. Renner, according to the correspondent, was bitter against Italy's demand for Tyrol.

DEFENSE IN FORD CASE NEARING END

Ford Concludes Testimony Defending His Son Edsel

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., July 23.—The defense of the Chicago Daily Tribune against the charge of libel brought by Henry Ford, is nearing the end. It began nearly two months ago. Today Weymouth Kirkland, one of the Tribune lawyers stated that little remained in the way of evidence.

His concluding testimony contained a defense of his son Edsel for not becoming a soldier. The father took full responsibility. He said that Edsel was offered army commissions which would have taken him from the factory but the father did not want any camouflage about it. He and "the boy" he said, were both engaged on war work and he considered that his son could do more for his country on work for which he was trained, than elsewhere.

There were two subsequent witnesses, John R. Lee, who was one of Mr. Ford's legal executives for many years, and H. H. Esselstyn, an acquaintance of A Brooklyn judge has declared the war time prohibition act unconstitutional in deciding a suit brought into his court. It would be a brave judge indeed who would declare that measure, passed as it was with a definite war time purpose, unconstitutional.

"To him that hath shall be given." An oil well owned by the Standard Oil Co., at Whittier, Calif., has just developed into a gusher, said to be the largest in the whole of the coast state. Forty thousand barrels of oil a day probably does not mean much to the Standard Oil Co., but it sounds like an enormous fortune to the ordinary citizen.

The danger in the prohibition enforcement act is that it may prove too drastic. There is no use in placing a law on the statute books so difficult of enforcement that officers are powerless. Beside, there is distinct disadvantage in the existence of such a law, for its non-enforcement brings about lawlessness and contempt for law and order. The wisest friends of prohibition believe in an enforcement provision of a reasonable kind.

It is unfortunate from the viewpoint of county officers that the new law which provides for the closing of county offices each Saturday afternoon does not apply to counties of the size of Morgan. The law specifies that it is not applicable except in counties with a population in excess of 70,000. Just why the officials in the more populous counties should be given the half holiday does not appear.

One can hardly blame ex-Mayor Mollman of East St. Louis for his caustic telegram to Washington authorities asking them why they do not step out in the streets of the capital and quickly put an end to the race riots. A congressional investigation committee sharply criticized Mayor Mollman at the time of the East St. Louis riots and indicated that ordinary care and promptness on his part would have prevented the trouble.

The ex-mayor may not have had the means at hand for stopping the riots in his home city, but he has not been absolved from the charge that the reckless administration of city affairs brought about the very conditions which made the race troubles a logical result.

THE SUPERLATIVE DEGREE.

(From the Kansas City Star.) Kansas is modest, and boasting is out of its line. Therefore, it is under a handicap to describe the situation in which it finds itself as to the wheat this year.

The biggest acreage, the best stand, the brightest prospect, the highest percentage as to the condition, the clearest color, the tallest blades, the cleanest, from weeds, the freest from bugs, the wettest soil, the most favorable weather, the greatest promise for the most extraordinary yield—words fail.

In the language of the short grass country alone is found satisfaction: "It's the goldenest, finest thing you ever saw."

And Kansas expects to reap the bountiful price ever received for a wheat crop.

It would be interesting to know just how many people read the columns of testimony published every day in the Tribune-Ford house suit. It is said that the people grew so satiated with war news that only a few read more than the head lines and paragraphs here and there. Following the same theory as to public interest, most readers get no further than the head lines in the Tribune-Ford controversy.

However, there was more than this interest in the testimony of Mr. Ford himself, and the big manufacturer got the best in this contest of words. He didn't assume much knowledge of world history but did give proof of a sincere desire to promote peace, and still further proof of his grasp of business and industrial questions of large importance.

THE DEBT TO THE ENGLISH.

It is noticeable in the statement of Col. Clifford, recently returned from overseas, that he paid special tribute to the English for their part in the war. The friendship between the U. S. and France is so warm and the cordiality has been so marked since the days of Lafayette that the average American fails to accord England a full share of praise for the part played in the great war.

Nevertheless the English navy had not continued in control of the seas, and if the English navy had not conveyed so large a part of the American forces overseas, the ending of the war would have probably been different, or else the war still raging. Bull dog determination is the ordinary figure applied to the English people and it is not a wrongly chosen phrase.

IN THE WOODS
I wandered today in the wonderful woods, a forest majestic and grand, where solitude, silence, and similar goods are spread with a liberal hand. Afar from the hurry and noise of the town I journeyed through alleys of pines; I thought 'twould inspire me to sit myself down and write you some soul-searching lines. The forest is noble, impressive and sad, as poets have wotted and weened; but I was rejoiced to get back to the grad, and sit in a room that is screened. est is full of unusual bugs, which bite in unusual ways, and I am anointing my system with drugs, to soften the swellings they raise. The forest's mosquitoes are larger than hens, they're hungry and active and mean; the spots where they bite me are looking like wens, and I am a sight to be seen. The woods are the homes of malevolent ants, which thrive in the shade of the trees; they crawl up inside of the wanderer's pants, and eat all the flesh from his knees. The town has its faults; it is wild for the cuss, it's swarming with callous-souled men; but if you would urge me to chase to the brush, I say to you, "Never again!"

The Great Advance

The St. Louis Globe Democrat in a recent editorial takes high ground in discussing the League of Nations plan. The Globe believes that there is no opposition to the plan save in the U. S. and that the program promises such possibilities for peace that there should be no misgivings about the possible dangers. The view taken that there is no nation more courageous than America; that there is none so peace-loving and therefore fears and doubts or thoughts about the untold future should not now stand in the way of favorable league action by America.

The attitude of the Globe is quite different from that taken by a number of the most influential papers of the country and its utterance, evidently given from a wholly unprejudiced, non-partisan viewpoint, is worthy of close study. The statement reads as follows:

"We asserted not long ago that outside of the United States there was no serious opposition to the League of Nations. Senator Borah, in the Senate the other day, endeavored to show from newspaper articles and individual statements that there was strong antagonism to the league in England and France, yet the action of the British House of Commons yesterday in approving of the treaty by the virtually unanimous vote of 163 to 4 is indisputable evidence that no opposition in Great Britain has had any weight with the popular legislative assembly of that nation. Nor is there any reason to believe that there is any opposition in France that will influence the Parliament in the slightest degree toward an adverse vote.

"Yet the question of sovereignty involved in agreement to the covenant are essentially the same for these nations as for our own. We have some objections that are peculiar to our situation, growing out of our traditional attitude, but the obligations assumed are the same for them as for us, and our independence of action and supreme authority over domestic affairs are no more menaced than theirs. There is no nation more jealous and assertive of its rights, domestic or international, than Great Britain, yet that nation accepts the covenant of the league practically without a dissenting voice, without the alteration of a line or the expression of a reservation.

"Nowhere in the world, we repeat, is there any menacing opposition save in the United States. Universally it is accepted as a feasible and essential movement for the promotion of permanent peace, and all peoples are united in the conviction that the establishment of a foundation for enduring peace is the most important and most pressing question before the world. No one can have the prescience to say that the plan will surely and always succeed, but, on the other hand, no one can say that it will not, and no other plan is before the world or now can be put before the world. It is this plan or none. If this opportunity is not grasped it will be lost, and mankind will have to wait for another occasion, perhaps for another cataclysmal war, to bring it into being. In all matters of progress it is better to take council of hopes rather than of fears. Nay; fear never made a forward step since time began.

"No people are more courageous than the Americans; there are none so peace-loving; yet the only opposition to this great organization for peace is there! and virtually all of this opposition is founded upon fears, imaginary fears—fear that we may lose something that is now ours, fear that we may be forced into difficulties that we might otherwise avoid. How could we explain this paradox to posterity? How can we explain it to our own consciences? The whole proof of the merits of the league is in the future, the whole proof is in its application.

"All apprehensions, therefore, are based upon events to come and are necessarily imaginary, for no man can disclose the future save by approaching it. It is easy enough to people an untrodden road with dangers; and it is unwise not to consider their possibilities, but surely no advance can ever be made if one surrenders to them before they become realities, and of it is the experience of life that imagined dangers seldom materialize. That there will be obstacles to overcome and difficulties to surmount in the application of the covenant no one can doubt. It would be foolish to imagine it moving forward upon a smooth and level road. Progress is ever a continuous conquest of difficulties. And there may be perils! But there can be none to equal the peril of inaction in this supreme emergency of the world. Circumstances, appalling circumstances, have set before mankind a new course. The lines are forming for the great march of humanity. Are we to march with it, or are we to stay out of the ranks and thereby to lose step with the forward moving nations, or, worse still, to prevent their advance?"

Ghost Walks

(This is not an advertisement, but a little story about an event of universal interest.)

Once upon a time, as the story-tellers say, there lived in England a theater manager of the bogus type who was very dilatory in the matter of paying his salaries. Now in this company was a self-willed actor whose strong part was the ghost in "Hamlet." If his salary was not forthcoming on a Saturday morning he would exclaim, "Then the ghost won't walk tonight!" As he was an indispensable actor, he was always paid. Sometimes he received only a portion of his salary, with the promise of the remainder in the course of the performance, and he would even go so far as to hold up the play just before the scene where he entered, until he was paid.

Of course, the manager could not give his salary to one member of the company and overlook the others, so they all began to feel a keen interest in the walking of the ghost as a barometer of the pay situation. About the time of "treasury" on a Saturday morning, they would wait until they received word by a messenger that the ghost would walk.

To this day the expression the "ghost walks" is synonymous with the paying of salaries not only in theaters, but in many offices, and actors assembling for their weekly salaries in a not too reliable company put the question to each other, "Is the ghost walking?" while, if about to accept an engagement of a manager of whom they know nothing, they ask, "Does the ghost walk?"

dealing with the matter of settling the results of the war. He selected a commission in which the Republicans had no representation and in which there were no prominent Americans of any real experience and leadership of public opinion. With such a commission, his unusual course in going abroad himself, as president, greatly emphasized the personal element in the framing of the treaty and intensified the general tendency to oppose anything that he might bring home because of his apparent wish to dictate the policy of the world and to monopolize the credit for it. I feel that some of the defects of the league of nations are due to him. I am confident he prevented the adoption of the plan of the league to enforce peace in respect to an international court and the settlement of justiciable questions.

"This was, as I am advised, in the English plan but was omitted from the very satisfactory American plan. His prejudice against courts is well known. Article X, I think, is due to him primarily, because it is merely the embodiment of the last of his fourteen points. While it came from his suggestion, however, it suited the demand of the French and I believe it to be now the heart of the league in tending to unite the forces of the world in police duty to suppress wars of conquest.

Offers Opportunity for Remedy.
"The power of amendment, contained within the terms of the league, offers full opportunity to remedy the defects of the league with reference to the international court and in other respects. The great point which supporters of the league now should seek is the establishment of a basis on which, thru amendment, the league can be perfected. It is necessary to retain Article X in order to stabilize the world.

"The attitude of hostility toward the president has aroused criticism and opposition which might have been avoided had he taken with him such a man as Mr. Root and two representatives of the foreign relations committee in the senate. The criticisms have stirred the conscience of some Republican senators and have endangered the ratification of the league by two thirds of the senate.

"Mr. Wilson's influence with his Democratic supporters in the senate will secure perhaps 45 votes. Nineteen Republican votes are needed and the question is how they can be secured. I don't think they can be secured except by relieving their consciences thru reassuring interpretations of the league of such a character that they are likely to be accepted without further negotiation and conference and delay by the other nations who dictated the peace. After consideration of the arguments made on the subject, I have formulated these interpretations and reservations with the hope that they will suggest a basis of agreement between the Democrats and Republicans to ratify the treaty and secure to us the inestimable benefit of a league of nations which will be the foundation for growth and development into a new era in our international relations.

The attempt of such men as Senator Borah, Senator Johnson, Senator Sherman and others to defeat the treaty and the deliberate exaggeration of the Shantung feature of the treaty do not, I think, indicate the attitude of the majority of the Republican party in the senate and I do not think that any attention should be paid to the suggestion that the treaty be amended in its provisions with reference to the re-arrangement of the map of the region of the war.

Favors Ratifying Treaty as It Is.
"I am strongly in favor of ratifying the treaty as it is. Were I in the senate I would vote for it, but the situation may require concession to secure ratification and I suggest what I have already sent to you, a copy of which I enclose as something that will secure a useful league of nations, which may be improved and which at the same time may satisfy the genuine objections of the Republican friends of the league in the senate.

"It seems to me that the first interpretation achieves all that the draftsmen of the withdrawal clause intended and as thus interpreted relieves that clause from a possible construction by which the actual withdrawal on two years notice might be greatly hindered thru the claims of the other members of the league.

"The second interpretation has to do with the presence in the league as members of self governing dominions or colonies of a home government also a member. Certainly in a small body like that of the council, it would be unfair to have a home government represented and also one of its dominions or colonies, and I cannot think it was the intention of the framers of the covenant that this might happen. Yet I am bound to say that such a result is not excluded by the present language of the covenant in Article X and Article IV, nor does the language of Article XV necessarily exclude from the tribunal to recommend a settlement of a dispute, a home government where one of its dominions or colonies is a party, nor does it necessarily exclude a dominion or colony from such tribunal where the home government may be a party; yet, I have no doubt that both of these exclusions were intended by the framers of the covenant. Nor is there any express description of the function to be performed by the senate council or the assembly under Article XV so as to require that it should act judicially and according to international law of equity and justice. I have no doubt that it was intended that the language of the preamble should characterize the function of the duties of the council or assembly under Article XV and therefore that the language I have introduced in the second interpretation is merely giving expression to that which ought to be inferred as the intention of the framers of the covenant. I may say that it supplies that which Mr. Root forcibly represented as a defect of the covenant.

"The third interpretation is an exact legal construction of the effect of Article X and I do not see how any of the signatory powers can object to it. The conclusions in respect to the function of congress under this article is the necessary result of the distribution of power under our constitution to which none of the associate members of the league can object."

Mere Statement of Law.
The fourth interpretation is a mere statement of international law and the possible construction of the seventh Article XV, which is only inserted to satisfy criticism of that progress based on the unfounded assumption that some tribunal of the league will be found which will declare issues in respect to immigration or the tariff to be something other than a question of domestic policy. If, as all authorities show, immigration and tariff unaffected by treaties are purely domestic questions, then it cannot injure the league to say that which is undoubtedly a maxim of international law and remove the concern of those who suspect other nations of being in constant and unprincipled conspiracy against the interests of the United States. We may deplore this attitude of mind, but where is costs nothing in the effectiveness of the league, we may well insert a provision to remove the fears its prompts.

The fifth interpretation defines the Monroe Doctrine. As the expression, Monroe Doctrine is used in article XXI and as the United States is the author of the doctrine and has maintained it for ninety six years it is fairly within the realm of interpretation for it to state what the doctrine has been made to be in the history of its development to the present day. As the time has come for its world recognition the time has also come for its definition, and I believe the language used correctly states what we have a right to claim it to be and all that we have the right to claim it to be.

These interpretations, it seems to me reasonably answer all the reasonable or sincere criticisms made against the league except as they are met by the single reservation as to Article X which is suggested at the close. Mr. Root in his letter to you proposed that the operation of Article X be limited to five years when the settlements of the war should be re-examined with the view to the further operation of the article after a re-settlement.

Influenced by some direct information that I have as to the attitude of France in respect to Article X, I am confident that the period of five years is not long enough for this stabilization and does not offer the security which France eagerly seeks under the league or by supplemental treaty. I think, therefore, that the cautionary influence of the league would be greatly strengthened by lengthening this period from five to ten years. It seems to me that ought to be done by the formal exercise of the right to withdraw as a member of the league after ten years by giving a notice to that effect. The nations of the league can be sure that should the league work well the United States will withdraw the notice and continue to bear its part of the world's burden in securing the benefits of the league if those benefits are apparent after ten years' trial.

The provision, however, may tend to satisfy doubters in respect to the league by requiring for its extension beyond ten years the affirmative action of the president and two thirds of the senate in favor of such extension after the trial of a decade. Meanwhile should the failure of the league be apparent before the expiration of the ten years the withdrawal clause gives us full opportunity to end our relation to the league by a two years' notice.

To the Woman Who "Never Has Any Luck Putting Up Fruit and Berries"

How even a Beginner can be Sure of Perfect Results in Making Jams, Jellies and Preserves

Good home preserving is now easy to accomplish. Even the housewife who "never has any luck" with all sugar preserving can put up fruit perfectly if she will first make her preserving syrup with  $\frac{1}{2}$  Karo (Red Label) and  $\frac{1}{2}$  sugar—instead of sugar alone.

By this method you can always have the finest, most delicious jams, good clear jellies, and preserves with a rich, heavy syrup.

Karo is a fine, clear syrup, with a natural affinity for the fruit juices.

It blends the fruit with the sugar, doing away with one of the great difficulties of putting up fruit at home, and just about cutting the work in half.

You can depend on it that fruit put up by this method will never grow tough or "candy" in the glass.

For Cooking, Baking and Candy Making Karo (Red Label) is used in millions of homes. In all cooking and baking recipes us Karo instead of sugar. It is sweet, of delicate flavor, and brings out the natural flavor of the food.

CITIZENS EXPRESS VIEWS ON CITY'S FINANCIAL PROBLEMS

C. C. Ridgen.
"I positively am in favor of a bond issue and believe that now is the accepted time—it is the only way that we can clear up our indebtedness and provide for the proper completion of our new water project. Situated as we are in the logical trading center of a large and prosperous trading territory, we are bound to go ahead if we will clean up and clear up and get ourselves into shape."

E. W. Bassett.
"I would like first to know just what our debts really are, then I would advocate a bond issue large enough to take care of the whole business and to by all means insure pure drinking water in abundance. After that I do not believe it will prove a very difficult matter for our council to keep up."

"We have all the resources necessary but have been lacking in courage and confidence. The harmonious application of these things would bring the city up to where a city of this size ought to be. We should have a definite plan to work at all times. It seems to me a large part of our failure has been to work out a definite and practical plan, adopt it, and then to harmoniously stick to it."

H. J. Smith.
"I most certainly am in favor of a bond issue, the immediate payment of the city's debts and provision for the assurance that a filtration plant will be at once installed in connection with the water project we now are at work on. And if it can be done, I am in favor of a new municipal light plant at the same point. These improvements are essential to the future of Jacksonville."

Hopper & Sons.
"We are most certainly in favor of some action being taken at this time to insure the payment of the city's floating indebtedness, the addition of a filtration plant to the new water project, and any other improvement that it is possible to provide for."

"Our idea is that a bond issue is the only feasible and fair plan, and in our opinion this cannot be too long delayed to give Jacksonville the chance to take advantage of the opportunity now offered for progress."

J. L. Johnson.
"The city is in debt and must get out of it if it is to progress and amount to anything, and the only way that I see is by bond issue. Let this bond issue be large enough also to insure the building of a filtration plant in connection with our new water project. The problem is plain. A city is like a private business and neither will progress toward anything but bankruptcy unless it first arranges to take care of its multitude of bothersome small debts."

Charles A. Rose.
"I am in favor of a bond issue under the circumstances. That is the fair and equitable plan. It equalizes the burden. I want filtered water—a water that we can safely drink and use, clean streets and a progressive city. This is Jacksonville's opportunity. We can take advantage of it to go ahead, or slide back still farther with the inevitable result."

Charles Laney.
"I am and will be for anything that is for the good of this city, and if a bond issue will give us the things that every body knows we should have, I will vote for it."

Ray Harmon.
"This city's debts should be paid without further delay and then I believe our present city administration will be able to operate so as to keep us out of debt. If a bond issue may be had that will do this, and will insure the addition of a filtration plant to our new water works, I am in favor of just that thing."

G. H. Kopperl.
"My thought in the matter is that every citizen's duty lies in supporting the present city administration to the full limit. The administration has shown that it is deserving of such support."

"I think that the building of a filtration plant in connection with the new water works is an absolute necessity. As to our debts, I think we are morally responsible in the matter. They were made by administrations elected by the people. The people invariably gets what it wants, as is shown by votes."

"A bond issue is the only feasible plan for us."

P. V. Coover.
"This city must pay its debts and have an abundance of pure water. These two things are essential to our progress, health, prosperity and happiness. There are other things needed, but must be the word to apply to the debts and to the water."

"I believe that a bond issue is the feasible and logical way out, and I further believe that Jacksonville citizens would take every dollar that it is found necessary to issue; that its people have just that much faith in the city's future."

"There is a thought that I would like to express here as to a plan that would help our city, and that is I would like to see the installation of a rock crusher. Tons and tons of brick have been removed from our streets, and as time goes one more will be. As it is now these are a waste. They could be crushed to proper sizes and used to build up unpaved streets and alleys of the city, which would be a decided help."

CONSIDER THIS WOMAN'S CASE
Mrs. A. L. DeVine of Los Angeles, Cal., says: "After I had suffered from a female trouble for years, not being able to do my housework or get any relief from doctors, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman, and I want to tell the world the good this medicine does." This woman is perfectly justified, and should be commended for telling others how she regained her health.—Adv.

Delicate Mechanism

Despite its scope, Swift & Company is a business of infinite details, requiring infinite attention.

Experienced men must know livestock buying with a knowledge of weight, price, the amount and quality of meat the live animals will yield.

Each manufacturing operation must be done with expert skill and scientific precision. A highly perishable product must be handled with speed and care to avoid loss.

Chemists, engineers, accountants, and other specialists are required to take care of our intricate problems.

Alert wisdom and judgment must be used in getting stocks of goods into the open channels of demand through our four hundred branch houses. Branch house organizations must show activity and energy to sell at the market in the face of acute competition from other large packers, and hundreds of small ones.

All these requirements of intelligence, loyalty, devotion to the task, are met in the personnel of Swift & Company. Yet the profit is only a fraction of a cent per pound, with costs at minimum.

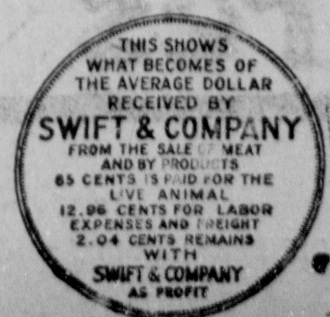

How can the workings of this delicate human mechanism be improved upon?

Do you believe that Government direction would add to our efficiency or improve the service rendered the producer and consumer?

Let us send you a Swift "Dollar". It will interest you. Address Swift & Company, Union Stock Yards, Chicago, Ill.

PUBLIC LACKS IN LEAGUE FACTS

President of Harvard says Insufficient Knowledge is Basis of Opposition.

New York, July 22.—Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard University declared in a statement to the executive committee of the League to Enforce Peace here today that the objections to the peace treaty based on the Shantung provision "is a bugbear founded on insufficient knowledge of facts."

Germany concedes to Japan only the rights she acquired from China by the treaty of March 6, 1898, he said. This gives certain industrial concessions in regard to the province of Shantung but the territory ceded is a strip of land thirty miles wide around the Bay of Kiaochow and this only by a lease for 99 years China expressly retaining the sovereignty, the treaty exercising it during the period of the lease.

Explains Article Ten.
President Lowell declared that America's acceptance of article ten of the league of nations covenant, which guarantees against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league does not guarantee Japan's possession of the Chinese province.

In ratifying the treaty, President Lowell, asserted the United States would do so on the assumption that Japan would carry out her obligation to return the ceded territory to China in accordance with an agreement between the two countries. He added that it would be wholly inconsistent with such an agreement to assume an obligation to defend Japan possession of the territory.

"FIT TO WIN" IS GREAT PICTURE

"Fit to Win" which is being shown at the Rialto is one of the great pictures of the day from an educational point of view. The picture is put forward by the government for the purpose of awakening the people to a realization of the danger from venereal diseases. A number of views are shown which serve to reveal the effect of such diseases to the human body.

These views are followed by a five reel picture which deals with the lives of five young men who enter the army. The story is no different from that of the average young man of the present day. It shows the many dangers and pitfalls that mark the pathway of life and what they may lead to.

The need of immediate care in cases of infection in venereal diseases is emphasized. Also the need of segregation of such diseases. Large audiences witnessed the picture Wednesday. The showings were for men only. Today all the performances will be for women only and it is likely that the audiences will be equally large.

the national joy smoke

NEVER was such right-handed-two-fisted smokejoy as you puff out of a jimmie pipe packed with Prince Albert! That's because P. A. has the quality!

You can't fool your taste apparatus any more than you can get five aces out of a family deck! So, when you hit Prince Albert, coming and going, and get up half an hour earlier just to start stoking your pipe or rolling cigarettes, you know you've got the big prize on the end of your line!

Prince Albert's quality alone puts it in a class of its own, but when you figure that P. A. is made by our exclusive patented process that cuts out bite and parch—well—you feel like getting a flock of dictionaries to find enough words to express your happy days sentiments!

Topsy red bags, tidy red tins, handsome pound and half-pound tin humidors—and that classy, practical pound crystal glass humidor with sponge moisture cap that keeps the tobacco in such perfect condition.

MISS HAMMOND HERE FOR SUMMER VISIT

Jacksonville Woman Completes Special Art Course at University of New York.

Miss Eva Hammond, assistant supervisor of art in the Springfield (Mass.) public schools, is now at her home in this city for the summer vacation. Miss Hammond will return to Springfield in the fall to resume her duties at an increased salary, and the fact that the increase came without any solicitation on Miss Hammond's part indicates that her services are highly valued.

In company with Miss Mildred Brown, who had just completed the work of the year at Loraine, Ohio, Miss Hammond at the close of her school term went to New York City and here the two enrolled at the University of New York for the summer art courses. At this term the work usually done in six weeks was completed in three weeks, this being made possible only by the closest application to study. Miss Hammond and two others in the class of 100 students this year completed the full four summer course and were graduated from the institution. The course is in charge of Dr. Haney, head of all the art work in the high schools of New York City, and acknowledged to be one of the best art teachers in the U. S.

In her work in the Springfield schools Miss Hammond has three buildings under her supervision, she being one of three supervisors of art. Her many friends and former pupils in this city will be glad to know of her continued success in her chosen field of endeavor. The high degree of efficiency to which she has attained is the result of the most earnest application to her chosen profession.

CAR CAUGHT FIRE

Wednesday evening as Dr. P. H. Griggs and family were returning from Meredosia, where they have been camping, their automobile caught fire when near the State School for the Deaf.

Dr. Griggs had stopped for a moment and killed his engine. He had some trouble in starting and having no flash light thoughtlessly struck a match and ignited the gasoline. The flames were extinguished with some bedding in the car without any damage.

LOOKING FOR HUSBAND

Mrs. Kress Blackburn of Nashville, Ill., was in the city yesterday trying to locate her husband. According to the story Mrs. Blackburn told the police her husband left Nashville several weeks ago in company with another Nashville man.

She has not heard from him since, but a letter written by his companion to relatives in Nashville was mailed from Jacksonville Monday. Blackburn is a poultry dresser and egg candler, his father being engaged in that business.

It was thought he might be working in some of the local poultry houses but no trace of him could be found. Mrs. Blackburn said there had been no trouble and she believed if she could find him she could induce him to return home.

BOYS ARE CAMPING NEAR MEREDOSIA

David Smith and Harold Stewart, who are in camp at a spot five miles north of Meredosia, have written friends here that they are thoroughly enjoying the outing. They report fishing excellent. ### CHAS. HOME WEDS CALIFORNIA GIRL

Former Resident Here With Bride Taking Trip Thru Yosemite Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Beaumont of Pasadena, Calif., have announced the recent marriage of their daughter, Miss Ruth Beaumont, to Mr. Charles W. Home, formerly of this city. Mr. Home is a son of Mrs. Fred McLaughlin of Scott county and many people in Jacksonville, where he was a resident until recent years, will be very much interested in knowing of his marriage.

During the war period Mr. Home was in army service having enlisted in California. As a soldier Mr. Home made an excellent record, quite in accord with his previous reputation. While his Jacksonville friends have no personal acquaintance with his bride, they do know that she comes of an excellent family and is a very attractive young woman. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Home started on an automobile trip to Yosemite Park.

MRS. EDGARS' FUNERAL HELD AT JERSEYVILLE

Deceased Was Resident Here Many Years Ago—Col. Edgar Prominent in Political Affairs.

Mrs. William H. Edgar, formerly of Jerseyville and at one time a resident of Jacksonville, died Monday at her home in Chicago. The remains of Mrs. Edgar were taken to Jerseyville yesterday for interment. Mrs. Edgar before her marriage was Miss Mary Beckman, daughter of the late Henry Beckman, and she was the widow of the late Col. William H. Edgar, long a resident here.

Col. Edgar graduated from Illinois college in 1869. He served in the Civil war and secured the title of colonel thru the fact that he was attached to the staff of an Illinois governor. He was sent by Col. Smith, at that time proprietor of the Jacksonville Journal, to Jerseyville to found a newspaper there and started the Jerseyville Republican. Subsequently Col. Edgar was postmaster at Jerseyville and afterward held the same office at Beatrice, Neb. He was prominent in Nebraska politics and for some time represented his district in the state senate.

Mrs. Edgar is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Charles Bowman, of Chicago, with whom she had lived a number of years.

EXEMPTIONS FROM TRANSPORTATION TAX

Regulations Governing Tax Exemptions on Amounts Paid For Transportation. Issued by Bureau of Internal Revenue—Commissioner D. C. Roper Makes Statement.

Regulations governing tax exemptions on amounts paid for transportation of property in the course of exportation have been issued by the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Considerable uncertainty has existed in shipping circles as to when shipments are entitled to exemption from the transportation tax. The situation is cleared by Treasury Decision 2889, copies of which, together with the certificates which are required covering shipments in, course of transportation will be obtainable at the Bureau of Internal Revenue and offices of collectors July 21.

The following statement concerning the regulations was made by Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Daniel C. Roper:

"The constitutional provision that no tax shall be imposed on the exports from any state has been held by the attorney general to include taxes on amounts paid for the transportation of property in the course of exportation.

Not in Course of Exportation. "Numerous cases have come to the attention of the bureau where amounts paid for the transportation of property were being exempted from tax when the shipments in the light of the law were not in fact in course of exportation. While the constitutional exemption excuses shipments from paying the transportation tax that all other shippers are required to pay, it does not require that a bounty be placed on export business or that it should escape from ordinary burdens that are imposed on property similarly situated in the United States.

"The misunderstanding of the constitutional provision and the different interpretations placed on the term 'in course of exportation' by the shippers and carriers and the consequent unsettled conditions in circles engaged in export business have made it necessary to promulgate rules adequately to protect the government in the collection of its revenues and at the same time, secure to shippers engaged in the export trade the exemption to which bona fide export shipments are entitled.

"The new regulations were drawn after an exhaustive examination of the subject from a legal standpoint and after numerous hearings where representative men from the different industries were heard to great length. A practical arrangement is provided for exemption from tax on amounts paid for its transportation.

What New Regulations Provide.

"The practice of assembling commodities in pools and similar arrangements at export points from which such commodities might be sent either to a domestic point or to a foreign point was given extended consideration and provision made for the exemption from tax on amounts paid for the transportation of property thru such pools into export when the essential character of such shipment movement can be determined. The manner in which the property usually was disposed of in the pools heretofore would not permit of the exemption from tax of any of the amounts paid for the transportation of the property into the pools, because the property after it arrived in the pool was subject to any disposition which the owner might deem expedient. In fact, the property was ordinarily merely consigned to the pool and either sold before its further domestic or foreign destination was determined, or such destination was determined after it had arrived in the pool. The regulations provide that amounts paid for the transportation of property on the inland movement to the pool may be exempted from tax if the shipper has disclosed the essential character of the shipment at the point of origin by making the shipment against a verified statement of his foreign requirements.

Such shipment would move under a temporary exemption certificate stating that the shipment is sent into the pool for the express purpose of being exported and referring to the foreign requirements certificate containing the foreign order against which the shipment is to apply. Upon the shipment from the pool into export of a like quantity and grade of the property by the first available transportation, the shipper would secure a permanent exemption by filing a certificate of exportation, which certificate would also refer to the particular foreign order against which the shipment is applied. In this manner the essential export character of the shipment and its disposition would be disclosed at the time such shipment originated; the property could not be held in the pool for sale, if it were, the final exemption could not be secured and the tax would be collected.

Not Placed at Disadvantage.

"This regulation recognizes that the nature of the shipping papers does not determine the essential character of the shipment and American exporters will not be placed at a disadvantage by reason of shipments under bond from foreign countries which proceed to a point of export in the United States and are there held for sale or for any disposition that the owner may deem expedient. The transportation tax in such circumstances will be assessed and collected on

STANLEY H. WRIGHT WILL OPEN STORE

Has Leased Building Formerly Occupied by George S. Gay and Will Open Furniture Store—Has Been in Same Business in California

Stanley H. Wright, who has been visiting his mother here for several weeks, announced yesterday that he had leased from the Misses Hayden the building at 209 South Sandy street and would open a new furniture store about August 15th.

Mr. Wright has been in California for the past ten years and for the past six years has been engaged in similar business in that state.

The plan which Mr. Wright will follow in the conduct of the store here is new to Jacksonville, but has long been popular on the Pacific coast. Mr. Wright said yesterday that judged by his experience on the coast and his observation of the operation of various stores that the people here will not be slow in grasping the opportunity for exchanging used furniture for new furniture. The firm name will be "People's Exchange Furniture Co." and the motto "Exchange your used furniture for new furniture." Thru the operation of a store of this kind the customers will have the opportunity of securing fair prices in disposing of household goods and can apply the money thus secured on the purchase price of new furniture.

It often happens that the householder has a piece of furniture in very good condition but which for some reason does not accord with other house furnishings and the owner would welcome the chance of a sale at a price representing the real value. The exchange plan provides for meeting just such a condition.

The firm in its location on South Sandy street will have ample floor space of two stories, together with a basement, also a large store house in the rear.

YATESVILLE RESIDENTS ENJOY FISHING TRIP

Mrs. W. T. Hardy of Yatesville planned a fishing trip Tuesday in honor of her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. John Seegar of Decatur. The party motored to a fine fishing place southwest of Oak Ridge church. Most of them were successful, thirty-two fine fish being landed, together with many crawfish and one large turtle.

At the noon hour some of the fish were dressed by Mr. Seegar, and fried by the ladies, who had brought along the necessary equipment. The fish, together with the other good things provided, made a most appetizing meal, which was pronounced the best feature of the day.

After dinner some time was spent in fishing, and the company was also entertained by two young swimmers, who seemed to enjoy the sport exceedingly. About four o'clock a group picture was taken. Those in the party were Mrs. W. T. Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. John Seegar, Mr. and Mrs. John Baker and son Russell, Mrs. Henry Means and granddaughter Louise, Mrs. D. N. Harris.

ANDREW FINLEY IS ILL AT HOME OF MOTHER

Andrew Finley, who spent his boyhood days in this city, is now at the home of his mother, Mrs. Angie P. Weber, on West Court street. The young man's health is not up to normal and he is here for an extended rest period. He suffered an attack of typhoid fever just three weeks after entering the army service, and for fifteen weeks he was seriously ill at Camp Gordon, Ga. Upon receiving his discharge from the army in May he came to this city for a visit and later returned to his duties as a musician in a theatre of Memphis, Tenn. It is thought that he returned to work too soon, for his health since that time has been failing and he was forced to give up work entirely.

The many friends of the young man here will hope that he will soon regain his normal health.

An Engine Built for Service

A Motor Truck Engine has no easy task to perform. Most of the time it works under a pull. Its load is often increased suddenly and tremendously by road conditions. Every hill, no matter how short, every roughness of the road, compels it to extra effort. These sudden changes in the load would test the quality of the engine even if it were bolted low into a solid foundation. Consider then, the quality that must be built into an engine that gives good service day in and day out for many years while bumping along on solid tires over all kinds of streets and roads. International Motor Truck engines have just that kind of service built into them. Note the simple, sturdy appearance of the engine shown above.

Lubrication is handled by an efficient constant pressure feed system, of a kind found only on high grade, expensive engines. It wastes no oil, yet every bearing gets its full share. Working parts are protected to keep out all dust, dirt and grit.

The International engine develops ample power for any work the truck is sold to do. It is a feature of the truck, yet it is but one of many features, equally good, which have secured for International Motor Trucks a reputation to be proud of. Come in and let us show you in detail how well every part of an International is built to give its owner real motor service. There is a size and style of International Motor Truck to meet practically every hauling requirement.
